Fiftieth Anniversary Celebrated By St. Emile Parish

Large Crowd Witness Ceremonies; Weatherman Co-operates Perfectly

LEGAL.—The welcoming banners and numerous flags combined with the bright, sunny weather afforded a warm greeting to the Church and State dignitaries and other visitors who thronged to St. Emile Parish of Legal on Thursday, August 6, to join the townspeople in the memorable celebration of their Fiftieth Anniversary.

Everyone seemed elated at having the opportunity of paying homage to the pioneers who sacrificed so much and suffered untold hardships to found the thriving, French-speaking, Roman Catholic community which it has now become.

Among the many distinguished guests in attendance were: His Grace, Archbishop MacDonald, Monsignor Tessier, of Morinville, Monsignor Rooney of Westlock, Monsignor Griffin, superintendent of the Edmonton Seminary; the Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, Hon. J. J. Bowlen; the former MP for Jasper-Edson, J. W. Welbourn; Hon. Lucien Maynard, M.L.A., Jean-Paul St. Laurent, son of the Prime Minister; Mayor Hawrelak of Edmonton; Mayor Veness of St. Albert; Mayor Solaet of Morinville; Mayor Montpetit of Legal; the official representative of the C.P.R., Roland "Pat" Patenaude; and Mr. R. J. Scott, school inspector for the Sturgeon School Division.

His Grace, Archbishop MacDonald, inaugurated the ceremony by blessing the church and grounds, after which Holy Mass was celebrated by a former pastor of Legal, now of Morinville, Rt. Rev. E. Tessier, assisted by Father Tardif of St. Albert and Father Malloux of Vimy.

Present pastor of Legal, the Rev. A. Langevin, extended the official greeting and his predecessor, the first pastor of the parish, the Rev. A. Normandeau, reminisced with his old and dear friends.

His Grace, Archbishop MacDonald, also spoke, paying high tribute to the remaining and departed pioneers for the solid foundation they had built, urging the present and younger generation to carry on in the same tradition.

These remarks were broadcast over Radio Station CHFA.

After Holy Mass, a banquet was served in the Parish Hall. Credit and appreciation for this truly delicious banquet go to the ladies of the parish who so unselfishly and untiringly devoted their time and efforts to make it the success it was.

The assemblage then retired to an open-air forum to hear the distinguished guest speakers with the Legal school principal, Robert Couture, ably emceeing.

His Worship, Geo. Montpetit, mayor of Legal, voiced his appreciation at the wonderful turnout and thanked all in attendance for helping to make it a truly great day.

J. W. Welbourn, former Liberal MP for the Jasper-Edson constituency, offered his sincere congratulations on behalf of all his former constituents, particularly in the rebuilding of a third church after two disastrous fires, showing thereby that the later generations of the parish had some of the same mettle and initiative their forefathers had displayed.

Hon. Lucien Maynard, Social Credit member of the Legislative Assembly, extended his good wishes on behalf of the Provincial Government. He said that the Legal Parish had an enviable record in keeping its faith and language when compared to other towns established previously.

When His Worship, Mayor Hawrelak of Edmonton was introduced as "a big man from a big city," he immediately made it clear that

PM's Son Lost $500 On Liberals

LEGAL.—Jean-Paul St. Laurent, son of the prime minister, has lost a $500 bet that the Liberals would take more Alberta seats than Social Credit in the August to federal election.

Robert H. Little, a Vancouver contractor put up his money and Mr. St. Laurent, reached by telephone at Legal, Alta., said, "the bet is on."

Monday Social Credit won 11 Alberta seats, including Jasper-Edson and the Liberals cornered only four. So Jean-Paul lost the $500 bet he made while here in Legal.

"Buffalo Bill" Tours Canada On Horseback

MORINVILLE.—Wm. Martisch, a 22-year-old youth, wearing a beard which could well be the envy of many an old-timer and with hair flowing down to his shoulders, passed through Morinville on August 11 on his cross-Canada tour on horseback.

Known across the country as "Buffalo Bill," he estimates he has 80 far encountered on his long trip in finding blacksmiths to have his horse shod.

"Buffalo Bill" carries camping equipment and sleeps in the great outdoors with his horse, Rocky.

He says the greatest trouble he has so far encountered on his long trip is finding blacksmiths to have his horse shod.

Travelling on its own special caravan containing car after car crammed and jammed with wonders, and cage after cage of animals from every land, with tons upon tons of equipment, properties and devices and riggings, the all new, streamlined Wallace and Clark Wild Animal Circus will arrive in Morinville early in the morning of Thursday, August 27, and immediately a tented city will rise in the air. SOCIAL CREDIT GAINS TWO ALBERTA SEATS FROM LIBERALS

EDMONTON (HUP).—The votes of Alberta have sent much the same slate of members back to Ottawa to represent them in the new House of Commons.

Although the Liberal party stormed the country for another term of office with a hefty majority, they have one less member from Alberta to sit on the government side of the house.

With all 17 ridings reported, Social Credit won 11 seats, the Liberals four, and the Progressive Conservatives two. In the last house the Social Credit had 10 members, the Liberals five, and the P.C.'s two.

The Liberals lost two of their Orvis Kennedy by only 16 votes.

Members from the left parliament but gained one when they won the new riding of Edmonton-Strathcona. Social Credit held all its seats but had one member eliminated through amalgamation of Camrose and Battle River ridings.

National Social Credit Leader Solon Low was re-elected in Peace River, and Miss Minister George Prudham in Edmonton West. Liberals who went down to defeat were Jack Welbourn in Jasper-Edson, and Fred MacDonald in Edmonton East.

A recount will be held in the Edmonton-Strathcona riding, where the Liberal Dick Hanna won the new seat by defeating Social Credit's Orvis Kennedy by only 16 votes.

Industrial Empire Head Impressed With Alberta

A two-day flying visit through Alberta was enough to convince the 54-year-old head of one of the largest industrial empires in North America that the province was at the beginning of vast development.

Philip B. Reed, chairman of General Electric, said in Calgary
Wednesday before leaving for Edmonton that he was as impressed with the rich resources and industrial potential of Alberta his brief tour would be the first of many more detailed visits.

Accompanied by Harold M. Turner, president of Canadian General Electric, and C. Morrison, executive vice-president of the Canadian subsidiary, Mr. Reed started his tour by company aircraft at Vancouver.

He said the corporation was planning to introduce a revolutionary system for imaging and cooling the home based on the refrigerator motor and known as a heatpump.

The chief of the vast organization known as General Electric is a friendly, humble man who has seen the Twentieth Century become the era of electricity.

Explaining that the company was just celebrating its 75th anniversary, he said it was expanding its sales by 12 per cent each year.

The billion-dollar group which has a payroll of a quarter of million employees, now produces an impressive range of articles ranging from capital goods to consumer goods; everything from the housewife's electric toaster to the housewife's electric toaster to the housewife's electric toaster to the housewife's electric toaster.

With four associated companies
Acrodis Corporation, Bailey
Meter Co., The Stevens Paper Mills
Co., and Tungsten Mining Corporation, General Electric has even extended its activities into the atomic and jet engine field.

Other departments of the great electric empire specialize in steel, chemicals, X-ray apparatus, car equipment, industrial heating, instrumentation, air conditioning and aeronautics.

Mr. Turner said that the industries of eastern Canada were looking to western Canada for its raw materials.

Discounting the "boom and bust" school, he suggested that the future of Alberta would see a gradual development of its resources to feed the east.

Communists in Japan are eager to talk about former Jap islands now held by the U.S. though USSR possession of the Kuriles—some only ten miles off the Japanese coast—is not mentioned.

the city he was representing was only "big" because towns such as Legal helped to make it so. He added that the abiding faith which carried the pioneers through their hardships was still necessary today.

Jean-Paul St. Laurent, son of our distinguished Prime Minister, extended his sincere congratulations to the parish and pioneers on behalf of his "papa" and himself.
Maintaining that he was not going to make an election speech, he urged everyone to vote on Election Day, because "poor representatives are elected by citizens who don't vote".

Official representative of the pioneers was Joseph St. Martin, who showed the eloquence of a veteran orator. He paid high tribute to St. Emile's first pastor, aged and deserving Rev. A. Norman-deau. He recalled the forest which has now been replaced by modern farms, made possible by the sheer pluck, courage and tenacity of the pioneers. "Their example, he said, should instill the younger generation to great heights to maintain the standards set by their forefathers."

It was Rev. E. Tessier, pastor of St.
Emile Parish from 1934 to 1947, and now parish priest at Morin-ville, reminisced in his humorous fashion, evoking more chuckles than any speaker of the day, recalling the children he baptised, taught, saw falling love in High School, and the sorrow he experienced when they came to the end of the road.

He also brought home the fact that the neighboring parish of St.
Jean-de-Baptiste have an everlasting, deep affection for their friends of the St. Emile Parish.

Last speaker of the day was the most-deserving host, Rev. A.
Langevin, present pastor of St.
Emile Parish, whose unceasing, tireless efforts and undivided devotion were directly responsible for the tremendous success of this memorable occasion.

The historical booklet which he put out on the occasion of St.
Emile's Golden Jubilee will live on as a testimony and souvenir of the factual development of this one-time northern outpost.

Rev. A. Langevin then took this opportunity to thank everyone who had worked so hard to make this celebration a success.

A truly great day for a truly great parish.
Everyone then participated in

As Noah remarked while the animals were boarding the Ark, "Now I herd everything."

One swallow doesn't make a summer, but it breaks a New Year's resolution.

A long-suffering husband took one look at his huge pile of unpaid bills for the month and reached for the family shotgun. "I'm going to end it all," he threatened. His wife remained totally unimpressed.

"Put down that gun before it goes off by accident," she ordered. "If you have something to say, SHUT UP!"

Some folks think an office is a training school for matrimony.

The most sensational trial of the year was in progress in Whitehorse, country of the midnight sun. The prosecuting attorney shook a bony finger in the face of the accused and thundered, "I ask you again, sir: where were you on the night of November 8 to March 15?"

LETTER TO LOUISA

Faithful Wife Betrayed By Unfaithful Husband Who Now Wants Divorce

Dear Louisa:

I am writing about a friend of mine. She has devoted all her love to her family which is her whole life. She has had some pretty rough roads to travel but she has always been true to her husband.

He has run around with a girl most of his married life and sometime back. He told her he was the father of this girl's child and she is about to have a nervous breakdown.

In spite of all this she still loves her husband and children and doesn't want to divorce him. Can you give her some advice?

—PUZZLED

Answer: If the husband told his wife of his philandering, he was either doing so because he was ashamed and wanted to make a new start in his life or he was asking for a divorce. If he was asking for forgiveness and the wife still loves him, it seems to me that her best plan is to give him another chance although things can never be the same between them again.

On the other hand, if he is asking for a divorce there are many things to consider. If the wife thinks this is a passing fancy on his part and that he will get over his infatuation in time, it may be well for her to hold fast for the good of her children and all concerned. There are some couples whose dreams have been shattered by the misbehavior of one, but who keep up appearances and an undivided love for their children's sake.

Each goes his own way and lives his own life but present a united front to the public. Some people can do this but others would find such a situation impossible.

So it all depends on the woman—will she be happy as a wife under such conditions or would she rather be a divorcee? It is her decision to make and should be.

MISS CANADA GOES ABROAD

LOVELY MARILYN REDDICK who garnered the Miss Canada title of last year, took to the road this summer for auditions and screen tests in New York, and a trip across the water to attend the Coronation. She is shown here with the seven complete wardrobe which were among the prizes she won with her title.

CANADA'S ROLE SIGNIFICANT IN KOREAN ARMISTICE

Canada played a significant role in the events which led up to the signing of the Korean armistice. Whether or not the armistice makes any real contribution to the pacification of the Far East and the ending of the cold war remains to be seen. It does at least bring the killing of men to an end in one particular part of the world and gives to diplomats and statesmen a new chance to settle some of the world's more acute problems.

Before the outbreak of the Korean war Canadian representatives in the United Nations worked with others to bring about the UN objective of a free independent and united Korea. That was impossible because the Soviet government which occupied North Korea after the end of the war with Japan refused to cooperate and set up a puppet Communist government which eventually attacked South Korea.

When the United Nations agreed to support South Korea in its fight against this aggression Canadian representatives shared in the decision. The Canadian government proceeded to back up the decision by providing naval, air and land forces for the fight, which has now come to an end temporarily at least.

Never before were the Canadian people as united in their support for a government committing Canadian forces to battle. That unity was a reflection of the general agreement which prevails in the country on foreign policy. It is demonstrated by the absence of criticism of any aspect of foreign policy by any of the three opposition parties in the present election.

To a Canadian External Affairs Minister, L. B. Pearson falls the task of presiding over the Assembly of the United Nations which will meet soon to discuss the outlook after the armistice.

Mr. Pearson had a lot to do with bringing the armistice about, particularly in obtaining favourable consideration for the proposals advanced by India for settlement of the tricky issue of repatriation of prisoners.

If the armistice leads to anything of value no small part of the credit will be due to the foresight of men in the government at Ottawa who drew Canada's support behind the United Nations effort, to the valor of Canadian fighting men and to the patience and steadfastness of Mr. Pearson in maintaining harmony among the non-Communist nations despite Communist efforts to divide them.

When Canadians last voted at a general election they had not thought their young men would soon be fighting a war. Neither did they think they would soon be building the biggest peacetime defence force in Canadian history.

Yet both these things have come about within four years, and thanks to the cool heads of the nation's leaders, no complaints are heard as the parties contend in this election. True there is talk of waste and extravagance in defence but it is not criticism of the main decisions, of the big things done, just criticism of the way they were done.

The purpose of United Nations intervention in Korea was to resist aggression, to show that aggression does not pay. As Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said the other day that objective has been achieved.

"All Canadians are proud," Mr. St. Laurent said, "of the courage and discipline of our servicemen during these three years of hostilities. Never in history have our soldiers, sailors and airmen fought so far from their homeland in defence of that homeland and of the highest ideals of peace. We will not forget the sacrifices which they have made nor will we forget their losses, which are the losses of the whole nation."

Though costly in terms of casualties, Korea has been but a small part of the government's defence preparedness program. In terms of the three-year defence plan which started in 1951, it has taken less than four per cent of the money spent so far.

Most of the nation's defence outlay has been in reviving wartime defence industries, in recruiting, training and equipping more than 100,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen and in assisting Canada's North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.

A reduction of even 10 per cent in these expenditures, Mr. St. Laurent has emphasized, would constitute a betrayal not only of our allies but also of the whole concept of western collective security.

The Prime Minister asks Canadians to resist the temptations of any political promises and of unaided defence economies, but does not exclude the probability of reduction in taxation following the Korean truce. He stated in a national broadcast, "Like all other Canadians, we in the Government will be very happy when defence expenditures can be reduced with safety. We are hoping and praying for a real settlement in Korea and, if there is a real settlement, it is reasonable to expect a reduction in defence expenditures."

Further on Mr. St. Laurent added:

"The liberal policy on taxation and expenditure is to pay as we go and to reduce rather than increase our debt in good times, to go slow on new expenditures and, while saving those chances to continue reducing taxes just as much as possible."

Under his leadership, Canada has played an important part in the international picture during the past four years. Testimony to Canadian influence abroad has been the part held by Mr. Pearson, President of the NATO Council and President of the United Nations Assembly during the critical Korean negotiations. Here's what Mr. Pearson says of the record.

"Our policies have been sound and, I think, well administered. We have sought to protect Canada's national interests, but we have done this in the knowledge that our greatest national interest is peace and good relations between peoples."

"We accept and are grateful for United States leadership in and for its tremendous contribution to the struggle against Communist aggression and imperialism. We back this leadership however, without forfeiting our right to speak up, in Canadian accents when we feel it is desirable in the interest of our country."

"We are certainly not changing on Uncle Sam's coat-tails" as Mr. Drew has charged.

Tillage and Conservation Effect Soil Protection

A completely protected soil through the whole cycle of cropping and summerfallow is an ideal that can be closely approached with wise choice and operation of implements. Under supervision of D. Tracy Anderson, Agronomist at the Lethbridge Experimental Station, much thought and effort have gone during the past four years to the study of the effect of tillage on trash cover and soil protection.

Tillage implements vary in their retention of surface protecting trash. At Lethbridge they found that after three strokes on summerfallow the blade cultivator conserved 70 per cent or more of the original surface cover, the heavy duty cultivator about 62 per cent and the diskfoot cultivator about 57 per cent.

The one-way disc buried about 50 per cent of the surface material with each stroke, so that after three strokes there only about 12 per cent of trash left on the surface. With the flexible one-way harrow 18 to 20 per cent remained after three strokes under normal operating conditions.

Another point of interest is that while some implements bury the trash, others after the first operation tend to bring it back to the surface. Types of the latter are the subversive cultivator, including the roller weeder. Where a disk type implement was used for the first stroke, and a blade type cultivator, heavy duty cultivator or roller weeder for subsequent strokes, as much as 60 per cent of the original cover has been conserved.

Which is the best implement to use? That depends. In years of light crop you will want to conserve all the surface trash you can. In a year of heavy straw you may be glad to bury some of it. Conditions mean much, but the work that Mr. Anderson is doing is giving us a deeper insight into just what we can expect of the various implements, and a knowledge that we can use as circumstances warrant.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. — Prime Minister St. Laurent says the Progressive Conservative promise of reduced taxes and increased social benefits is an "infract to the intelligence of the Canadian people."

Alberta's Tiplplers Get Extra Half Hour

EDMONTON (R.P.) — Alberta Liquor Control Board Chairman A. J. Mason announced Wednesday beer parlors will be allowed to sell beer until 10:30 p.m. and can remain open until 11 p.m.

The extra half-hour will allow a 30-minute tolerance period for patrons to consume beer already purchased at the 10:30 deadline, Mason said.

Beer parlors previously closed off sales at 10 p.m.

The new regulations apply to sales for both on and off the premises consumption.

Mason also said that beer parlors will be allowed to sell up to four dozen bottles of beer to a customer for off-the-premises consumption. He said letters have been sent to all beer parlor operators advising them of the changes, and the new rule becomes effective on receipt of the letters.

It was the second major change in beer parlor regulations in as many months. Beverage rooms began serving sandwiches July 1. The changes were made under amendments to the Alberta Liquor Control Act approved at the spring session of the legislature.

Canadian Government Reaps Oil Bonus

J. ZIPPERTSTEIN

Canada's Department of Resources and Development received a total cash bonus of $3,514.81 from sale of approximately 440 acres of petroleum and natural gas lease lands on July 20, the department announced. Those lands are located in the south, central and central east sectors of Alberta.

Largest bonus was paid for a quarter section parcel in the Tindalville Creek area of central Alberta by Jake Zippertstein. That tract, Parcel 514, the N.E. 1/4 Section 25-37-1 W3, brought the Canadian Government a cash bonus of $3,010. It is located about nine miles southwest of Red Deer and 11 miles northwest of Innisfail.

Mr. Zippertstein was also purchaser of another 160 acres at the July sale, a tract in the Shoultz area, 8 miles north of Lake Meagher. This parcel, No. 569, takes in the S.E. Section 15-20-21 W4 and was acquired for bonus of $190.

Death, Court Hearing Too Much For Youth

CALGARY — Driver of a truck involved in an accident in which a four-year-old child was killed at Edmonton's court the week-end. Robert Park, 19, broke down in the dock at city police court Tuesday as he faced a charge connected with a totally different homicide.

Park was charged with assaulting and robbing a Calgary man about a month ago, in company with three other youths who pleaded guilty Monday. He was told police said was really a drunken spree that turned into robbery for "no reason at all." The first three had been reminded for sentence.

It was only when Park, obviously under great emotional strain, appeared dazed and broke into tears as the robbery charge was read to him, that his lay-lawyer in the Edmonton juvenile court said:

"I just don't know," he burst out as he was asked his client's best time to set out his defence. "I decided to turn Prosecutor Hall as the youth tried to get control of himself. The crown asks a remand until tomorrow."

First Report Of Grain Harvest

ALTONA, Man. — The first report of grain harvested in Manitoba came Friday when A. J. Thiessen began combining a field of barley.

Agriculture as a Profession (Trained Agriculturists Needed)

Canada, as well as every other agricultural country in the world, is in need of more University-trained agriculturists.

Deciding What To Do. Young men graduating from the High Schools of Western Canada this year are faced with the important problem of deciding what to do this Fall. Should I go to University and study? Or should I take up as my life's work. The factors that must be considered in this decision are: What do I want to do? What are my special interests and talents? What can I do best? What profession offers the best assurance of a job?

Many Opportunities. Today, there are many, many opportunities for University-trained young people. Perhaps, from the dollar and cent point of view, such professions as medicine, law and engineering may be more attractive than agriculture. Success in life, however, cannot be measured in dollars and cents alone. For the farm-raised young person particularly, no profession can provide a more satisfactory life work than agriculture. For those who cannot or who do not want to engage in active farming, there are many other fields of employment available—agricultural research work, extension, teaching, journalism, industry, to mention only a few.

A New Understanding. The people of Canada are beginning to recognize the importance and dignity of agriculture as a profession.

And yet they should for agriculture is one of the most exacting and scientific occupations to which any man can put his hand. Agriculture is a profession, and a profession that makes the highest demands upon intelligence, training, vision and personal moral qualities.

We strongly urge all University-minded young men in Western Canada to consider continuing their education in Agriculture. Write today to the Dean, Faculty of Agriculture, of your province's University for information on University training in agriculture.

Social Credit Fails To Make Significant Gains Outside Alberta

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

(British United Press Staff Correspondent)

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 10. — (BUP) The Social Credit Party failed today to dent Canada's national political picture, but picked up an extra seat in its home province of Alberta and threatened to elect four members in British Columbia. National Social Credit leader Solon Low won personal recognition in his sprawling northern Alberta riding of Peace River, where he piled up a much larger majority than in 1949.

He admitted disappointment at the failure of his 71 candidates to capture more seats outside Alberta, but laid the main blame to "inexperience" of Social Credit leaders.

Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta, who took an active part in the federal campaign, said he was "delighted with the provincial results" but said "other areas had apparently wait."

Social Credit had been boosted by a strong threat to take the western provinces, and British Columbia Premier W. A. C. Bennett had audaciously forecast the party would capture many of the 22 seats province's 22 ridings.

Social Credit had hoped for a truce between the Liberal and Conservative that would give Social Credit in a balance of power in the new house.

He said he was "not surprised" at the reaction of the St. Laurent government, and said the main factor in the Liberal sweep was Canada's prosperity.

Social Credit candidates in Eastern Canada failed almost, and most of them lost their deposits. In Alberta, however, the party won two seats from the Liberals, defeating J. W. Volkmann in Jasper and E. W. and Fred Macdonald in Edmonton West.

One Social Credit member of parliament had been eliminated in 1951 through redistribution of Canadian seats which amalgamated Peace and Battle River ridings in Alberta.

Low, forecasting that the next federal election would result in a divided Social Credit strength, said "We are still confident the party is not far distant when it people of Canada will turn to Social Credit as a solution to domestic and international problems."

As counting ended for the night in Low's Peace River riding, which the Social Credit carried in 1949 with a majority of only 325 votes, he had 3,562 votes, compared to 7,294 for Liberal candidate C. B. Carignan, his nearest opponent.

The party's 10 members in the last House of Commons were all from Alberta.

Britain May End Meat Control

WINNIPEG—A hint that British government may shortly give approval to sweeping meat price de-controls and de-rationing has been received in a cable from the National Farmers' Union of Great Britain, by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

The cable came up for discussion at the Canadian Federation of Agriculture's semi-annual meeting.

It said there should be a review of both interim and long-term marketing arrangements in view of possible new legislation.

Two meetings also featured a resolution introduced by the Saskatchewan Federation that the CFA request the federal government to establish floor prices on livestock and livestock products, including poultry meat, and floor prices for the disposition of surpluses while seeking to develop markets for these surpluses.

Those who arrive on time have a lot of waiting to do.

Distribution Of New Varieties Of Cereals

OTTAWA—One of the functions of the Canada Department of Agriculture is the production of new cereal varieties, and their distribution to producers of commercial crops.

A. B. Masson, Cereal Breeding Laboratory, Winnipeg, says that this season two new varieties, one of oats named Rodney, and one of wheat not yet named but known as C.T. 186, are being increased as much as possible by the Experimental Farms, P.F.R.A. and selected seed growers. Approximately 6,000 acres of the wheat and 1,200 acres of the oat variety have been sown. It is expected that a substantial supply of seed will be available for distribution to farmers.

The Rodney oat has been tested extensively and is superior to our present standard varieties in size of kernel, stem and crown, and resistance to lodging. It is in the same maturity class as Exeter but may not be as widely adaptable.

The C.T. 186 wheat has also been tested extensively and has resistance to those strains of stem rust race 15B that have been prevalent in North America. Further quality data will be obtained before the variety is named and licensed. This information will be available in the fall and if satisfactory the variety can be distributed for the 1954 planting.

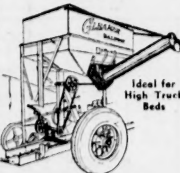

Since C.T. 186 will provide protection against stem rust it is hoped that the initial distribution of seed will be made in the rust areas of Western Canada. Farmers who are interested in obtaining seed of either Rodney or C.T. 186 should write to the Laboratory of Cereal Breeding, Box 322, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg.

CROSSFIELD RESIDENT HONORED; MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED ATTEND

CROSSFIELD — When the count was made of those who gathered together to honor Mr. Lee Albright on Sunday week, it was found that around 110 were present. One of the amusing contributions to the program was a parody on the life and habits of Lee, which was sung to the tune of "Too Old To Cut The Mustard Anymore". Jim and Hilbert Huddy, and the Sauter family gave several musical selections.

Beside the huge fried chicken picnic lunch, a later lunch was served to those who did not have chutes to take them away. The very lovely birthday cake was baked by Mr. Ableman's daughter, Mrs. Doug Robinson, and decorated by Mrs. Hugo Ballman. The top wife centered with a small glass of "Panacea For Thoughts", and a closer survey of the lower stories depicted the sporting activities of the honored guest, who was one of Crossfield's finest baseball catchers of earlier days, so a catcher's glove was not renounced. His fine driving team of yesterday were replicas in miniature, while a curling broom and rocks were significant of his latest conquest. In sports, Mr. Frank Laut, old time friend of the family brought back old times when he combined in a little presentation speech, to which Lee very suitably responded.

Mrs. Lillian, Mrs. Audrey Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cochrane, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McNeil all from Calgary, were pleased to attend, also Mr. Clyde Brown, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hühler and Miss Doreen Youngster, Markerville.

A hearty welcome was given to the members by Mr. G. S. Black. At 11 a.m. Mr. N. Bentley gave a lecture on the "Story of Agriculture." At 12 noon the program was adjourned for lunch.

The program commenced at 1:00 p.m. again when the members were broken into groups. One group made a visit to the livestock barns where Mr. V. Janssen gave a lecture on "Where the Beef Animal Fits into the Farm."

The second group went into the classroom where Mr. J. Glander gave a talk to the members on the topic, "Preparing your plot for Competition." The third group went into another classroom where the Home Economist gave a talk to the girls.

About 2:00 p.m. all the members made a tour about the buildings and the grounds. Some of the buildings were the livestock barns, the boys' machine shop, the boys' welding shop, the girls' college school, etc. Also a very neat plot of grains was seen by the members.

The Mundare 4-H Grain Club members arrived home about 7:30 p.m. Every member enjoyed the trip and the educational program that they heard at Vermilion.

Education is mainly the process of learning what one doesn't know, and getting the desire for knowledge.

Mr. Wallsten is a well-known resident in the Amisk district, is number seven and the only son in a family of twelve born to Mr. George Wallsten of Amisk, who is one of the earliest pioneers, having lived here for nearly 90 years. With this background, Mr. Wallsten has been able to conquer all other obstacles. He has been active in all community affairs, having served as councillor for many years as well as representing the district as a delegate to the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Mrs. Wallsten was formerly Mrs. Mary Lunde of Silver Heights, where she taught school. She was always ready to assist in school activities and her quick wit will be greatly missed by her many friends.

Local talent provided entertainment for the evening and the program was of an international flavor since we heard the beautiful Rose of Tralee, Tales of the Vienna Woods, Spanish Cavalier, The Indian Summer Bell and some top-topping Swedish waltzes by Fred Sakarassen and his imported European accordion from Christiansen, Norway.

Frank Oxford, acting as master of ceremonies, presented Mr. Wallsten with a box of money, while Mrs. Wallsten was presented with a good-luck cake made by Mrs. Roy Anholt, and a bouquet of white peonies and yellow dahlias picked from the Mellenstrand gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallsten expressed their regrets at the thought of leaving their many good friends and thanked all for their kind sentiments. The large crowd then rose to sing "For They Are Lonesome Good Fellows" and "Auld Lang Syne".

Turning On Of Power Celebrated

A great deal of credit is due the shareholders for their co-operation in making the project possible in such a short period of time, taking only four months to complete. The members also appreciate being able to come into the Claymore Company which is the pioneer company in this section of the Province.

Mr. Wm. Barr of Vermilion, President of the Company was present and gave a very interesting and informative talk on matters pertaining to rural electrification.

Mr. Wm. McCauley also spoke and told of the change taking place since he first came to the district and built his first log house in 1904.

Mrs. Percy Hawley and Mrs. D. Lugg spoke briefly on behalf of the housewives and told how they are enjoying the modern convenience and expressed the hope that it wouldn't be long before all farms would have rural electrification.

A sumptuous lunch brought the evening to a close. Those present appreciated the kind and generous hospitality of the McCauleys for the use of their home.
